BIG FIGHTERS AWAIT THE GONG. ROBERT EDGREN

HOW THE MINER HAS PLANNED IT OUT THE ONLY FINISH JEFFRIES CAN SEE

JEFF SAYS

I have been training a long time for this fight and I am mighty glad the time has come to get into the ring with Jeffries. I intend to win. The fact that he is champion won't worry me. I took the best that he could send two years ago when I was only an amateur, and he didn't hurt me. I am twice as strong now, in better condition, and I know about a hundred times as much about the game.

I am going in to force the fighting. Either I will whip Jeff or he will whip me before many rounds have been fought. I feel certain that I am the better man, and I am going to prove it.

JEFFRIES SAYS:

I won't say just when I w ill knock Munroe out, as I always go into a fight with the intention of putting in the punch when I get the chance, and I don't know what round it will come in. I expect to finish him long enough before the end of the fight to show my friends that I haven't gone back, in spite of the stories that have been told about my condition. I have an old bone to pick with this miner, and when I get through with him he'll never, say "Butte" again without getting the ha-ha.

BY HARRY POLLOK, MANAGER FOR MUNROE

I have the utmost confidence in his ability to put up an article fighting that will surprise every one who sees him.

If he fails to best Jeffries this time I will be as much surprised as will be disappointed.

When I go back to New York I expect to have the champion of the season of training. He's a remarkable fellow. He learned everything McCoy told him so, fast that he had the "Kid" guessing every day.

Jack is the gamest and strongest big fellow I know. Take the tip from me-he'll wallop Jeff and come home on the bit.

historic battles. In that same ring, where he will face the fighting miner to-night, Champion Jeffries has fought and won six of the most important of his career. The first was in '98, when, after coming into some prominence by training Corbett at Carson, and beating Ruhlin and Choynski in twenty rounds each, he fought Peter Jackson. Peter was the old idol of San Franciscans, even as much as was Jim Corbett. Jeffries knocked out the veteran with ease in three rounds. He then knocked out Pete Everett, at that time touted as a wonder, in three rounds. Shortly after that time Jeffries fought and won a twenty-round bout with Tom Sharkey. This was at the time of Sharkey's great popularity, and by his victory Jeffries at once jumped into fame. FIRST FIGHT WITH FITZ.

At that time Fits taught Jeffries all that he could of the boxing game, and there isn't a greater coach in the world than Eits. It was Fitzsimmons's methods that made it so easy for Jeffries to beat Corbett here last August.
